

Mr Hendersons Way

Walking - Moderate to Challenging

This walk takes the less travelled path from Ronda out to the Guadiaro river valley. It explores some of the the most unspoilt and peaceful landscape close to the town, crossing high open pastures and small mountain streams before dropping sharply down to the Guadiaro river. We then follow a rocky path known as "Mr Henderson's Way" which undulates above the river banks to Jimera Estacion, where we finish at a local bar.

Along the way we take a short detour to the Cuevo del Gato, the "Cat Cave". This is a local beauty spot, where a large opening in the rockface marks the end of the 8km underground journey of thousands of litres of water which have poured down through the limestone mountains to create a waterfall and beautiful pool of crystal clear (but very cold!) water.
